How to protect children from risks like grooming and online violence without breaking the family bond.

ES

Los niños de hoy crecen en un entorno digital que sus padres no experimentaron. Esta conferencia invita a padres y educadores a repensar su rol — no como guardianes que controlan, sino como adultos que acompañan. Nari presenta estrategias concretas para construir confianza, abrir conversaciones difíciles y establecer límites que protegen sin romper el vínculo. Porque la mejor protección no es el control; es la conexión.

EN

This talk invites parents and educators to rethink their role — not as gatekeepers who control, but as adults who accompany. Nari offers concrete strategies for building trust, opening difficult conversations, and establishing boundaries that protect without breaking the family connection. Because the best protection is not control — it is the relationship itself.
